

THE STATE CONFERENCE FOR RESARING PALESTINE INDUSTRIES

The last conference which was held at Dallas on Sunday, February 20, was certainly a wonderful gathering of prominent and Sincere Jewish people from the larger cities of our state. It was a pleasure to meet some of those old pioneers in the Zionist movement, men who gave up the very best of their years for a Jewish national home in Palestine, and it was gratifying to see those gentlemen still possessed of the same sincerity and love for the movement.

The only difference was that in former years our conventions and mass meetings were only a sweet dream, and at this last gathering in Dallas, our dream was on the point of realization.

Judge Dannenbaum explained the cause of our meeting, and he read the mandate which the English government has drawn up for Palestine, in which mandate it is plain that after twenty centuries the Jewish people will once again have the opportunity to re-establish themselves in their old home.

Two sessions were held, and the time occupied with the project of establishing refrigerators in Palestine, in which plan the majority of the delegates have a keen interest, and which no doubt will be pushed to success. But the main interest was in seeing that when the question of re-organizing the old State Association came up, the arguments, while very earnest, were to the credit of all present that when it came to a vote, was decided by a large majority that a re-organization of the State Association should be brought about, so that even those who had opposed the issue were pleased with the final result of the vote.

Let us hope that in the near future, the entire Jewish people of our great state will be united in one of the strongest state associations which will have as their aim and ambition the re-establishing Palestine as the home of those thousands and thousands of Jews who are in need of a home of their own.

PALESTINE A BRITISH MANDATE NOT A COLONY

Jerusalem: (Jewish News Service). Sir Herbert Samuel made the statement today that Palestine is not a British colony, as has been stated by some enemies of England and Zionism.

The High Commissioner declared that while England and her colonies have an understanding as to the amount of postage to be charged mutually between them and the mother country, postal rates between Palestine and Britain must be on the basis of foreign postage. "Britain has not made Palestine a colony. It is an independent state under a British mandate and therefore not to be included in the cheaper postal rates as those prevailing between England and her colonies," said Sir Herbert Samuel.

The commissioner issued an order declaring that the immigration department of Palestine is the only authority for the issuance of visa of passports and that Egyptian money may be legally current in the country.
